Special Patch for Jamboree Troops

2005 National Scout Jamboree Emergency Preparedness Award

Is your jamboree unit prepared? Are your Scouts mentally and emotionally prepared to act promptly and take care of themselves in an emergency?

In our world of man-made and natural phenomena, it is a challenge to be prepared for emergencies. The 2005 National Scout Jamboree Emergency Preparedness Award was planned to foster the skills to meet this challenge in our youth and adult members. It will prepare them to help prevent and respond to emergencies, and aid in recovery while traveling to and from the jamboree or during the jamboree.

As units across the country begin to plan their jamboree experience, it is important that they emphasize emergency preparedness training and have a plan for response that will help protect the unit and those around them. After the jamboree, this training will continue to contribute to the well-being of these members and their families and neighbors.

Award Requirements

All youth members must have earned the First Aid or the Emergency Preparedness merit badge.

The jamboree unit, including its adult leaders, participates in emergency preparedness training conducted by community emergency agencies (fire department, local or state emergency management agency, police department, etc.).

Prepare and share with all unit members a written emergency preparedness plan for your unit's jamboree trip.

Prepare a jamboree travel emergency kit.

Hold unit sessions on the jamboree emergency preparedness plan.

For more detailed information and a copy of the application and brochure explaining the award, call 972-580-2228. The application and brochure will also be available on this Web site in the near future. Because of the importance of this effort and to encourage participation, Great American Custom Insurance Services is funding the cost of award patches.

The Award

When a jamboree unit has fulfilled the requirements, a completed application is submitted to its council between September 1, 2004, and July 1, 2005. Councils will forward the applications to Risk Management S402 at the Boy Scouts of America. Applications will not be accepted at the jamboree site.

The patch may be worn on the right pocket of the uniform and is specifically for the 2005 National Scout Jamboree. A patch for each member of the jamboree unit will be mailed to the jamboree Scoutmaster.

Jamboree Supplies

Equipment and Tentage Package Plans

The 2005 National Scout Jamboree Package Plans order form is available to help jamboree planning committees determine tentage and unit equipment needs for their local council contingents.

Place your order as soon as possible to make sure you receive shipment prior to your pre-jamboree training encampment. Order by October 31, 2004, and receive free freight on tent packages.

For more information, council advisors may call 800-323-0732.

Procurement & Food Services Group

Plans are well underway to ensure a great jamboree dining experience. Whether you are in a troop or subcamp site or dining in a staff dining hall, we are sure you will be delighted!

Dedicated volunteers and starting early have been real key ingredients to our 2005 Jamboree

Procurement/Food Services Group. Many individuals have applied and been accepted to work the Procurement/Food Services Group but more are needed in all areas. We are particularly looking for individuals with forklifting experience and shipping and receiving and transportation skills specific to the warehousing industry. Interested individuals may e-mail jalline@netbsa.org.

Looking for Security?

Neal Johnson, chairman of security and parking for the 2005 National Scout Jamboree, and Bill Steele, director, are in need of a few good individuals with specialized law enforcement skills, along with individuals willing to work in general parking interfacing with the 25,000 daily visitors at the jamboree. It is a great opportunity to present a positive Scouting image to the general public. Staff applications are available online at www.scouting.org/jamboree.
